

Paul Medley

Paul Medley worked for many years as a professional photographer and graphic designer. These days he concentrates on specific photographic projects involving both aspects of nature, society and imaginary landscapes created in the studio. His work has been exhibited both in England and abroad. A joint project on Grenoble and Oxford with Grenoble-based photographer Anne-Marie Louvet was exhibited in the city of Grenoble, in the campus of Grenoble University, in Lyons University and finally in the Stables Gallery in Oxford. A set of landscapes has recently been purchased for permanent display by the John Radcliffe Hospital, Oxford.

Exhibited work and recent projects can be viewed at:

www.paulmedley.co.uk